presents: Michael P. Mc Crink

An American artist born in 1951, McCrink was influenced at an early age by his father, a landscape painter. Interested in 3 dimensional work he eventually developed a line of copper and steel sculptures that earned his first gallery showing. This led to a substantial series of aluminum sculptures painted in vivid color. After an exhibit at Art Expo in 1995, these became increasingly popular. During this time, he began his work on canvas in various media. An eclectic style developed, which he continues to this day.

For most of his career McCrink has been represented on an international scale by Lavon Fine Art. He now deals independently with local galleries.
